

Keter Borderlands

The Keter Borderlands is the name for a (relatively) young Star System seeded and settled by the Galactic Cooperation. Only in its 14th Century since terraforming seeding (and only its 4th since settling), the system is effectively a baby in the eyes of the elder members of the Cooperation.

The Worlds of the Keter Borderlands that were seeded prove to be, as ever, a vibrant source of resources and new lifeforms to research, as well as a place for settlers to expand into. As hoped, the seeding has produced five highly different worlds:

- Siruta - a water world of island civilisations
- Mytene - an industrial powerhouse on a mineral-rich world
- Hive IV - a verdant forest world still unexplored
- Kylal - a frozen world with surprises of unique life beneath the surface
- Ace's World - not notable for its terraformed properties, but rather for its “special” culture

Well into its 4th Century post settlement, the Keter Borderlands - accessed via the Orion Gate station from Fjenician space - are currently being visited by a variety of Ships with their own interests to pursue.

However, as of very recently, the Keter Borderlands have been shut off due to The Incident at the Orion Gate. What this means for the people of the system is yet to unfold.
