Background / Bio

Having been nearly killed in a catastrophic shuttle accident, Last Resort's first solid memory is being reforged in one of Fleet 18's finest Various Forges. Unsure of who she was or where she came from, with only fragments of memory before the upgrade, she took her identity from one of the first phrases she remembered hearing from before: "...we could... .. as ... would be a ... last resort".

In the Keter Borderlands, having hitched a ride on the Unquiet Journey, Last is trying to carve out an identity amidst the pirates and independents, eschewing an "official" existence in favour of slipping beneath the system. After all, whoever she was before is dead, whoever she is now is a ghost...
