

Startouched

Startouched have a particular connection with the universe, and in particular Ship Hearts. For some this manifests as a feeling of connection to the world when travelling the stars, others report visions and hearing things they could not possibly know about. Those more powerful are able to utilise their connection with Ship Hearts to rip holes in space - to bring down fire on their enemies, or to twist the world to their advantage.

Class Feature: Ship Heart Affinity

Startouched are inherently linked to Ship Hearts, and as such are capable of using that link to power their impressive abilities. Startouched power up their abilities by opening that connection to amass power before unleashing it in the form they prefer. Further nurturing this connection has reportedly presented opportunities to Startouched - as well as being the source of some of their destruction.

- Startouched have a base 5 hits.
- Startouched power their abilities using an empty hand in a particular gesture and accumulating power for a number of seconds before the ability is ready.
 - For accessibility you may choose to forgo the gesture, provided you select the ability you are charging ahead of time
- They can only power up one ability at a time in this way.

Solar Barrier

- You are capable of manifesting a protective energy barrier of 4 Hits.
 - This barrier may be restored with 5 minutes of concentration between encounters.
 - This barrier is not restored by healing.
